HUN PLEASURE SEEKERS TO PAY BIG FOR WAR

BERLIN. June 1.—German pleasure seekers will be called upon to pay a considerable part of the government's new financial policy. The tax will apply to admissions to theaters, concerts, the invoices and dances. Starting at 10 per cent on the cheaper tickets it rises to 20 per cent on the price of better sents.

The passion for amusement after long years of war is so great that the tax is not expected to discourage attendance at theaters.

Gambling is in great favor in Germany just now, and the playing card tax which in ordinary times would be considered prohibitive is expected to have practically no effect on sales of cards.
